

Everybody Has a Story to Tell...

BILBO BOOKS PUBLISHING

There is no better way to preserve family stories than writing a memoir. A family vacation creates memories. A family memoir preserves them forever. An anecdote is fleeting. A book is forever.

The memoir writing process itself opens new memories, once thought forgotten, because memories trigger other memories. Adult siblings coming together to immortalize their parents, grandparents and ancestors not only preserves memories but inspires future descendants to do more in life...which inspires yet-unborn generations to do the same...which...

Memories beget memories which beget memories which, if properly written up and published by a professional, personal, local publishing house, like, oh I don't know, Bilbo Books Publishing, beget memoirs.

We PERSONALIZE the PROCESS

We work with the author every step of the way, from idea to book launch (and possibly beyond). We have a variety of different approaches to get you through the process:

- Regular Meetings with a Bilbo representative
- Reviewing what you have written and making editing recommendations
- Editing your manuscript and giving "book crafting" suggestions
- Or taking notes as you dictate the book—recording the sessions for later review
- Or you can tell us your story and we write it for you
- Connecting with graphic designers
- Finding the right printer for your work
- Designing a marketing campaign tailored to your needs

SPECIAL SERVICES

- Bilbo Books has transcribed notes from ten, twenty, eighty years ago for compilation in a book.
- Bilbo Books has recorded and typed books for authors with disabilities which preclude the author from physically typing.
- We also offer genealogical research of your family tree and digital/VHS transfer services.
